Harvesting the Garden Crop to the Very Best Advantage

By M. C. MERRILL,
Horticulturist, U. A. C.

Gardening may be subdivided into three major operations. The first of these is the planting of the seed in well prepared soil; the second is caring for the crop during the period of growth by proper cultivating, weeding, watering, etc.; the third involves the harvesting and disposition of the crop. If the first and second operations have been carried on successfully, a good harvest is ordinarily assured. And to get a rich harvest is the great goal for which men strive in crop production. Unless the yield is good there is disappointment in the returns from the money, time, energy and land used in planting and caring for the crop.

It is therefore important that the garden produce abundantly, and especially this year. Yet even more important is it that the harvest be carefully gathered and properly utilized as food. If there is waste anywhere along the line, and particularly after the crop has been produced, it simply means that we have failed by just that much to do our best bit.

The season of harvesting the products from the garden extends over many months and the problem is therefore more involved than if the operation could be done all at once. One point that should be kept constantly in mind, however, is the necessity of harvesting everything in the season thereof. If this is not done, either size or quality is sacrificed. When the vegetables are gathered they may be sold on the market at once, kept at home for immediate use, canned, dried or placed in storage for late home use or for sale on the market at a subsequent date. In either case considerable care and judgment should be exercised in gathering the crop so that this may be done at the right time, and the harvesting done without bruising or injuring the produce. Enormous losses occur each year by disregarding this precaution. When injury occurs during gathering it makes the vegetables unsightly and unmarketable, the tissues are ruptured and bacteria and fungi readily gain a footing and cause speedy decay.

For best results in storage the vegetables should be fully mature, clean, free from bruises, and kept under the proper condition of temperature and humidity, which vary with different crops. These conditions should be carefully studied beforehand and preparation made accordingly.

The importance of the subject emphasizes the fact that it is not too early to begin right now to plan for the proper harvesting and utilization of the garden crop this year. Many problems are involved and much careful planning will be needed if we are not to be caught unprepared at harvest time.

Mines of Eureka May Close Owing To Miners' Demands

EUREKA, May 9.—Miners of Eureka tonight decided to present demands for an increase of 75 cents per day in the wage scale, the abolition of the rustling card system and guarantees against discrimination by employers on account of organization affiliations.

FINEST ON EARTH SAYS TACOMA MAN

Gains Seventeen Pounds by Taking Tanlac—Wife Also Benefited.

"I have gained seventeen pounds and the only reason I can give for my wonderful improvement is that Tanlac is an extraordinary medicine," said A. H. Thomas, a well known employee of the Wright Ship Building company, and living at 802 1/2 South Ninth street, Tacoma, Wash.

"The cause of my trouble," he continued, "started about six years ago, when I accidentally struck the back of my head a very hard blow. I paid little attention to it at first, but in a short while I commenced to have headaches, which kept getting worse until I could hardly stand them. These awful with the exception of my whole system and my general health got to be bad. My appetite left me, my stomach got in terrible condition and I was down in bed for several weeks. What little I managed to eat seemed to do me harm instead of good, and it would ferment causing gas and intense pain. I was very restless at night, would get up for a while and then wake up and roll and toss for hours. I was tired and sluggish all the time, and never felt equal to my work.

"I tried different medicines hoping to find something that would help my stomach and build me up in a general way, but I failed to find the right thing until I got Tanlac. This medicine has proven to be exactly what I needed. I have gotten my stomach in splendid condition, my appetite is fine and I can eat just anything I want and enjoy it. I don't suffer a particle with gas and indigestion, and I sleep so well that I have to get up in the mornings, and I seldom have a headache. I am feeling fine in every way now and my wife, who has only been taking Tanlac a short while, has been benefited a great deal already. It is the finest medicine on earth, there is no doubt about that."

Tanlac is sold in Ogden by A. R. McIntyre Drug Co. Two busy stores.

BAKER ISSUES A STATEMENT

Americans Must Not Fail to Provide for Men Who Carried Flag to Battle.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Secretary Baker tonight issued the following statement:

"The American army of occupation is patrolling the Rhine at Coblenz. The rest of our great expeditionary force is rapidly returning home, where it is being demobilized and restored to the industry of the country. We must pay our soldiers, and we must feed, clothe and transport them until their last man is discharged.

"During the war we demonstrated the military, industrial, financial and moral power of America. The eyes of the world are watching the success of the Victory Liberty loan as the last conclusive step in that demonstration. We cannot fail. The great sacrifice was made by our soldiers who carried the flag of America to triumph in battle. We at home can do nothing which will equal the sacrifice, but we can sustain and support the fighting men and help to gather the fruits of their victory by showing the same sort of determination in the Victory loan that the country showed in the Liberty loans and the soldiers showed when they went over the top."

The navy officially subscribed its quota. Reported subscriptions in the navy were in excess of $18,000,000, while the official quota had been set at $12,500,000.

The following were unanimously chosen for the offices: Louis Frell, yell master; John Emmett, debating manager; Orvel Carstensen, athletic manager; Leroy Johnson, dramatic manager; Leroy Blaylock, secretary and treasurer of the public service bureau.

Miss Oa Jacobs was elected as president of the public service bureau with 177 votes; Miss Scowcroft received 131 votes, while Earl Malan had 80 ballots cast in his favor.

Tera Malan was chosen as vice president of the public service bureau with 263 votes. Her opponent, Dorothy Nichols, was given 126 votes.

The officers will take their official positions at the beginning of school next fall.
